HOW IT WORKS

Step 1: Choose your session

Productive Conflict & Accountability

This workshop helps teams grasp productive conflict elements and necessary conditions. It guides participants in recognizing behaviors affecting psychological safety, defines accountability, and includes feedback exercises. The goal is to create team commitments that enhance trust, ownership, and collective results.

Creating Team Values

This workshop focuses on creating a values-driven team culture. Participants explore their leadership values, translate them into daily actions, and collaboratively define shared team values. Leaderology guides the transformation of these values into behaviors that enhance decision-making, collaboration, and team cohesion.

Creating Team Norms

This workshop utilizes Patrick Lencioni's team performance model to help teams develop norms for high performance. It focuses on core elements like trust, conflict, commitment, accountability, and results, guiding the group in creating a team charter. The session concludes with actionable norms that foster consistent habits and enhanced collaboration.
